Arms for Gomez.

Six cars, loaded to their full capacity with cannon, ammunition and small arms of all sorts, are speeding southward through the United States on the Way to General Gomez's army in Caha. This information came to the Herald yesterday. They passed through New York three Gays ago, but scarcely more than half a dozen persons knew of their going. The fact was guarded most carefully.

Little could be learned yesterday except that the cars were handled by the Southern Express Company. The route by which they were shipped cannot be ascertained, nor the place from which they started.

started.

I learned, however, that the probable destination of the cars is Tampa. They should reach that eity before many hours. Their contents will there be reshipped on board a fast transport steamer, and, convoyed by one or more of Captain Sampson's fleet, will be hurried to a landing on the Cuban coast. It is said that this plan is by no means thanown to General Gomez. A sufficient force from his army will command the point agreed upon and there await the landing.—New York Herald.
